

The Program to Advance Clinician Educations

Offered by PSOM The Office of Academic Affairs

Learn More

Apply Now

Applications due Aug 1

PACE Is a two-year academic certificate program that provides participants with resources, strategies, mentoring, networking opportunities, and the personal development insights necessary for a successful career at the Perelman School of Medicine.

FOR CEs In YEARS 2-5

YEAR ONE: KEYS FOR SUCCESS

- Advancing research
- Delivering talks
- Identifying resources
- Managing conflict
- Managing time and energy
- Maximizing mentorship
- Negotiating, networking
- Goal setting
- Strategizing scholarly efforts
- Understanding funding

YEAR TWO: SCIENTIFIC WRITING

- Manuscript rules and outlines
- Thinking like a reviewer or editor
- Titles and abstracts
- Discussion section
- Tables, figures, and data visualization

GRADUATE TESTIMONIAL

"This program [...] has been a rapid, consolidated way to find out about resources at Penn and to meet engaging, accomplished faculty who are willing to help those of us starting our careers. It is the most rewarding program I have gotten involved with at Penn. I sincerely appreciate the opportunity." Jourdie Triebwasser, MD, MA, Assistant Professor, Maternal-Fetal Medicine.

OUTCOMES

- Identify and obtain tangible and intangible resources
- Articulate short- and long-term career goals
- Build and manage collaborative relationships
- Develop skills necessary for academic productivity

MEET THE PROGRAM LEADERSHIP

Frances Barg, PhD, MEd,
Program Director
Professor of Family Medicine and Community
Health Emerita

Ellen Kim, MD
Professor of Dermatology

Cynthia Mollen, MD
Professor of Pediatrics

Knashawn Morales, ScD
Associate Professor of Biostatistics in Biostatistics and Epidemiology

GRADUATE TESTIMONIAL

"This program offers exceptional mentorship and professional development experiences" - Courtney Wolk, PhD, Assistant Professor, Psychiatry